

What we've been up to...

Sanjay Colony Public School

INDORELIEF RECENTLY PARTNERED WITH THE SANJAY SCHOOL TO PROVIDE HEALTH CARE SERVICES TO MORE THAN 100 OF THEIR STUDENTS

Sanjay Colony Public School educates more than 100 students in the Sanjay Colony of Faridabad, India. Students range in age from 5 to 13 and attend grades kindergarten through 8th. One of our goals with holding health camps at this school is to learn about the students and their families. After seeing nearly 100 students for our most recent camp, we formed a partnership with the school. With our donors' help, we will continue to provide general health check ups, vitamins, antibiotics, vaccinations, and any other treatments the students need.

This past September, our volunteers traveled to Faridabad to partner with the Sanjay Colony School. After learning of our work in the community, the school's principal reached out to us to see if we could offer our health services to the students.

Pictured above, Sant Kumar, founder of IndoRelief with a few of the students.

When speaking with students, we were amazed at how curious they were about their health. As a result, we had a health seminar. We talked about healthy eating habits, proper sleeping habits, good dental hygiene, and the importance of family and friends in feeling happy.

Two of the 7th grade boys studying together, take a moment to smile for a picture.

At IndoRelief, we believe our patients come first. This is why we speak with community members before planning any health project. We want to understand what they want. We spoke with the school's teachers and with the families whose children attend the Sanjay School. For them helping their children avoid potential illness is a priority. As a result, we are focusing our efforts on providing vaccinations, antibiotics treatments, and any surgical procedures if necessary.

These women are the dedicated teachers for the Sanjay School.

In helping the Sanjay School, we want to provide high quality healthcare for future generations of children. We will be working closely with teachers and the school's principal to create a health curriculum for the students. We hope these health classes will prepare the students for good health in their futures and set them on their way to accomplishing their dreams.

The younger students at the school were all smiles after their dental health check up.

The New Beginnings Clinic

INDORELIEF'S NEWEST PROJECT IS FUNDING AN ORPHANAGE TO HOUSE VICTIMS OF CHILD LABOR

Child labor is a prolific problem in many of the slums of India. Many young and homeless children sleeping on the streets are runaways from home, often sold into labor. Indorelief's new clinic will provide housing, clothing, healthcare, and an opportunity for education through highschool to the children facing this growing problem.

The problem: At least 45 million children in India are child laborers. They work various jobs, such as sewing clothing in factories, picking crops in fields, and building houses. They may work over 12 hours a day, with little food. Many child laborers are orphans. They work to support themselves. At IndoRelief, we want to show these children that they are not forgotten.

The boys stand with Amma ji, the caretaker, who has now become like a mother to them.

With the help of our donors in the US and abroad, we leased a small house. This house serves as the New Beginnings Clinic and as a home for these children-providing residency, healthcare, and education through high school. We go to work sites and speak with the children and let them know of how we can help, and encourage them to contact us and follow up with us. We learn about their goals and lives. We select the children who are most serious about improving their lives and utilizing the resources we provide to the fullest Chess is one of the boys' favorite pastimes. Above they are showing Sant how to play.

Currently, 7 boys live in the New Beginnings Clinic. Though these boys come from different places, they are united by their common struggles. These struggles have bonded the boys closer to each other more than we could ever have imagined. They are brothers, who are as committed to each other as they are to themselves. With your help, we hope to continue helping them achieve their dreams!

Anil, Sumit, and Rajat goof around together after lunch.

How can you get invovled?

running for new beginnings!

IndoRelief is very excited to announce our newest fundraising campaign! Join us this NOVEMBER 28, 2015 at the Fremont Quarry Turkey 5K and 10k races!

Grab a friend and your running shoes and join Team Orange and help two causes simultaneously! Registration donations will benefit the Alameda County Community Food Bank.

You can support IndoRelief by encouraging your family and friends to help sponsor your run, either by mile or with a flat donation. For those who cannot join us, you can still pledge a flat donation or help sponsor any of our runners. Any amount you pledge is helpful and all donations will go towards benefitting the continued funding of the New Beginnings Clinic.

If you are interested, feeling thankful this holiday season, or need a chance to burn off some of those Thanksgiving calories and would like to join us please visit the following link: Running for New Beginnings or send an email to contact@indorelief.org with any questions you may have, or to get more info!

Please continue to visit IndoRelief.org, and follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram for continued updates on the New Beginnings Clinic, and all of the other projects we are currently undertaking. We encourage all to spread the word about these efforts, share a post, or invite a friend to like our pages! Every bit of support moves us that much closer to making a significant impact in the lives of the people living in the slums. As always, a huge thank you for the continued support from our donors and tireless work of our partners and volunteers!

IndoRelief is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. All your donations are tax - deductible.

